'In-game/In-app' purchases

'In-game' or 'In-app' purchases refer to items or points purchased for use within a virtual world to improve a character or enhance the playing experience

A child may consciously make a purchase as they know it helps their experience or may unwillingly or unknowingly make a purchase in an attempt to return to their game when the advert pops up

Gaming Addiction/Disorder
www.uk-rehab.com

Initial Exposure
An individual's early experiences with gaming, during which enjoyment of and perhaps a fascination with such games may develop very quickly

Deeper Interest
Gaming begins to take up a position of greater significance in the individual's life, perhaps requiring growing investment in hardware, software and time. Other activities may begin to take on a diminished significance in consequence.

Growing Obsession
Gaming begins to take up a central role in the individual's life, with their thoughts becoming increasingly solely directed towards gaming and other activities and, now, relationships becoming increasingly neglected as the great majority of the individual's free time is now taken up with gaming

Full-blown Addiction
Gaming becomes the individual's dominant or even sole interest. All their free time is taken up with gaming, and all their energies are focused upon it, possibly at the cost of work or academic progress. Dietary and sleeping patterns are likely to be hugely affected by constant gaming, and the gamer may find themselves entirely dislocated from friends, family and the real world

IWF Internet Watch Foundation

In 2021, the IWF investigated a record 361,000 reports. Of these, 252,000 URLs were confirmed to contain images or videos of child sexual abuse.

In 2021, 182,000 reports included so-called self-generated material (see below). This is a 168% increase on 2020 when 68,000 reports.

Self-generated sexual imagery of children aged 7-10 years old has increased three-fold making it the fastest growing age group. In 2020 there were 8,000 instances. In 2021 there were 27,000 - a 235% increase.

Indecent images of children

HELP

Be aware that children may take or share photos of their private body parts, these photos would likely, in a legal context, be considered to be indecent images of children. If you are aware of indecent images of a child, do not print, forward, save or share these images, report concerns...

- Abuse online (including sexual) by people they know
- Abuse online (including sexual) by people they don't know
- Sending information to people on the devices contact list

28

So what counts as an 'indecent' image?

- Nude or semi-nude sexual posing
- Someone touching themselves sexually
- Any sexual activity involving a child
- Hurting someone else sexually

The law says: Making, distributing and finding indecent images of someone under 18 is illegal. This includes images of yourself or others.

29

Blackmail, bullying and harm

- Blackmail: An offender may threaten to share the pictures with the child's family and friends unless the child sends money or more images.
- Bullying: If images are shared with their peers or in school, the child may be bullied.
- Nudes and semi Nudes: can leave young people
- Emotional distress: Children can feel embarrassed and humiliated. If they're very distressed this could lead to suicide or self-harm.
- Unwanted attention: Images posted online can attract the attention of sex offenders, who know how to search for, collect & misuse images.

THE EMOJI DICTIONARY

Emojis are becoming an increasingly common method of communication for everybody. Emojis are simple to understand, quick to type and can get the tone of the message across. Just as understanding the language that young people use can be important for safeguarding them, we think it is also useful to understand how emojis can be used. If we have a better understanding of their meaning, we can foster better connections with children and young people, and identify any potential risks.

That's why we have put together a simple guide to how emojis may be used in areas of risk. This is not a definitive guide and is not exhaustive. We encourage all practitioners to stay curious about the different forms of communication young people are using, and to use this as a resource to build conversation.

The Children's Society and our supporters have been there for vulnerable children and young people for more than 130 years.

We believe that every young person should have the support they need in order to enjoy a safe, happy childhood.

That's why we run services and campaigns that make children's lives better and change the systems that are placing them in danger.

Together with our supporters, we're improving the lives of children today and long into the future.
